Additionally, the Data Subject is entitled to the right to the portability of data, to lodge a complaint with a supervisory authority and to an effective judicial remedy; additionally in the case of automated individual decision-making (including profiling) the right to obtain human intervention on the part of the Controller and to express his/her point of view and to contest the decision.

The Data Subject is also entitled to withdraw his/her consent at any time, which, however, does not affect the lawfulness of data processing performed based on consent before the withdrawal.

- Right to access

The Data Subject is entitled to request information at any time about whether and how the Data Controller processes their personal data, including the purposes of data processing, the recipients to whom the data was disclosed or the source where the Data Controller received the data from, the envisaged period for which the personal data will be stored, any right of the Data Subject concerning data processing, information concerning automated decision making, profiling, and information concerning related guarantees in the case of forwarding to third countries or to any international organization. When exercising the right to access the Data Subject is also entitled to request copies of the personal data undergoing processing; in the case of a request submitted electronically the Data Controller – in lieu of a request from the Data Subject that says otherwise – provides the requested information electronically (in pdf format). If the right to access of the Data Subject has a detrimental effect on the rights and liberties, in this regard especially the business secrets or intellectual property of others, the Data Controller is entitled to refuse to comply with the request to the necessary and proportionate extent. If the Data Subject requests the above information in several copies, the Data Controller charges a reasonable amount of fee, proportionate to the administrative costs of preparing the additional copies, HUF 200 per copy/page.

- Right to rectification

At the request of the Data Subject the Data Controller corrects or completes personal data concerning the Data Subject. If any doubts arise concerning the corrected data, the Data Controller may request from the Data Subject the certification of the corrected data for the Data Controller appropriately, primarily with documents. If the Data Controller disclosed the personal data of the Data Subject with this right to another person (e.g. the addressee as data processor), then the Data Controller shall immediately inform such persons after correcting the data, provided it is not impossible or it does not require a disproportionate amount of effort from the Data Controller. At the request of the Data Subject the Data Controller informs them about such addressees.

- Right to erasure (“right to be forgotten”)

If the Data Subject requests the erasure of any or all personal data of theirs, the Data Controller shall erase such data without undue delay if:

- the Data Controller does not need the personal data in question any more for the purpose such data was collected or otherwise processed for;
- it concerns data processing that was based on the consent of the Data Subject, but the Data Subject withdrew the consent and the data processing has no other legal basis;
- it concerns data processing that was based on the legitimate interests of the Data Controller or third parties but the Data Subject objected to the data processing and – with the exception of objection to data processing for direct marketing purposes – there are no legitimate grounds for the data processing that would have priority;

- the Data Controller illegally processed the personal data, or
- the deletion of personal data is necessary for the performance of legal obligations.
- If the personal data under this right is disclosed by the Data Controller to another party (e.g. the recipient as for example data processor) then the Data Controller shall immediately inform such persons after the deletion, provided it is not impossible or it does not require a disproportionate amount of effort from the Data Controller. At the request of the Data Subject the Data Controller informs them about such recipients. The Data Controller is not always obliged to delete personal data, especially for example in the case of the data processing is necessary for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims.

- Right to restriction of data processing

The Data Subject can request the restriction of the processing of their personal data in the following cases:

- the Data Subject contests the accuracy of the personal data – in this case the restriction concerns the period enabling the data controller to check the accuracy of personal data;
- the data processing is unlawful but the Data Subject opposes the erasure of data, requesting the restriction of the usage of the same instead;
- the data controller does not need the personal data for data processing purposes any longer but the Data Subject needs the data for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims; or
- the Data Subject objected to the data processing – in this case the restriction concerns the period until it is established whether the legitimate grounds of the Data Controller override those of the Data Subject.

The restriction of data processing means that the Data Controller does not process the personal data belonging under the scope of the restriction except for storage, or only processing such data to the extent the Data Subject consented to, and the Data Controller may process data necessary for the establishment, exercise or defense of legal claims or for the protection of the rights of other natural persons or legal entities or considering the important public interests of the European Union or any European Union member state even in lieu of such a consent. The Data Controller informs the Data Subject beforehand about releasing the limitation of the data processing. If personal data under this right is disclosed to other persons (e.g. the addressee as for example data processor), the Data Controller shall immediately inform such persons about the restriction of data processing, provided it is not impossible or it does not require a disproportionate amount of effort from the Data Controller. At the request of the Data Subject the Data Controller informs them about such recipients.

- Right to objection

If the legal basis for the data processing concerning the Data Subject is the legitimate interest of the Data Controller or third parties, the Data Subject is entitled to object to the data processing. The Data Controller is not obliged to uphold the objection if the Data Controller can prove that

- the data processing is justified by legitimate and compelling causes that take precedence over the interests, rights and liberties of the Data Subject, or
- the data processing is connected to the data for the submission, enforcement or defense of legal claims of the Data Controller.

- Right to the data portability

The Data Subject is entitled to request that the Data Controller hands over the personal data of the Data Subject provided to the Data Controller on the basis of consent or a contract, and processed by the Data Controller by automated means (e.g. by a computer system), to the Data Subject in a structured, commonly used and machine-readable format even for the purposes of transmitting such personal data to other data controllers or if it is technically feasible, the Data Controller, at the request of the Data Subject, transmits such personal data directly to another data controller as indicated by the Data Subject. In the case of such requests the Data Controller provides the requested data as a pdf file. If the Data Subject's exercise of the right to data portability had adversely affected the rights and freedoms of others, the Data Controller is entitled to refuse to comply with the request of the Data Subject to the necessary extent. Measures taken in the scope of the data portability do not mean the deletion of the data, only if, at the same time, the Data Subject submits a request to delete the personal data as well. Therefore, in lieu of such a request, the Data Controller stores such personal data as long as it has the purpose and the appropriate legal basis for the processing of those data.

- Right to lodge a complaint, right to an effective judicial remedy

If the Data Subject considers that the processing of their personal data by the Data Controller infringes the provisions of the established data protection legal regulations, especially the General Data Protection Regulation, the Data Subject has the right to lodge a complaint with the competent data protection supervisory authority in the Member State of his/her habitual residence, place of work or the place of the alleged infringement. The Data Subject is also entitled to effective judicial remedy if the supervisory authority does not handle the complaint or does not inform the Data Subject within three months on the progress or outcome of the complaint lodged.
